

CHAPTER THREE

The Divine Plan

For you to be an effective member of the Planetary Commission, you should understand your role in the implementation of the Divine Plan . . . for yourself . . . and for all mankind. And with this understanding will come a great sense of purpose, a stirring to action, an activation of your will to be a part of the co-creation. Yes, the salvation of the world does depend on you, for you are a part of the whole, and the whole would not be complete without you!

It is suggested that you purchase a spiral-bound notebook, which will serve as the Journal of your Divine Plan. Your Journal should be separated into four sections titled: (1) My lessons to learn in this lifetime, (2) Lessons I have already learned, (3) An inventory of my special gifts and talents, and (4) My life program. Each section will represent a part of your Master Plan for this particular lifetime. Now let's talk about the basic purpose of the Plan.

To plan something means to conceive, to think out, to make arrangements for—and the sum total of the conceiving, the thinking, and the arranging constitutes the PLAN. Accordingly, we can see that the Divine Plan is the Strategy and the Blueprint for each individual man and woman, for the entire human race, and for the planet itself, as conceived by the Infinite Thinker. In essence, we're talking about the Will of God, and if we think of that Will as the Cosmic Urge to express infinite Good-for-all, we begin to sense the absolute magnificence of the Plan.

We only have to look at the nature of God to see the nature of the Plan. It must encompass infinite peace and harmony, breathtaking beauty, everywhere present unconditional love, overflowing abundance, radiant perfection in mind and body, a true place of total fulfillment for each individual, unlimited joy and perfect order, and the ability of each Divine Expression of this Infinite Mind to co-create with wisdom and understanding in revealing God's Kingdom on Earth.

In defining the purpose of the Plan, let's recall that we have lost our awareness, understanding and knowledge of ourselves as perfect expressions of God—and that we are literally asleep to our True Nature. So it would be only logical to say that the objective is to awaken us to our Divine Identity. And upon awakening, each individual life begins to reflect a new Reality, and as each "unit" of consciousness is reunited with the Whole, the entire world is lifted up to a spiritual dimension of love, joy and peace.

With this basic purpose in mind, we can see that the Plan must include the elimination of fear, the dissolving of false beliefs, and the erasing of karmic debts in each individual soul. Thus, the Plan can also be viewed as a Teaching Model—and since teaching implies lessons, we can understand the necessity of various learning experiences to help us clean up and clear out consciousness, so that the Light can dispel the darkness and indeed make all things new!

Your Lessons to Learn

In the implementation of the Plan for your individual life, you have the opportunity to choose, between incarnations, those experiences and conditions that will help you in your spiritual growth. Each experience is a lesson, and each lesson learned will awaken certain spiritual qualities that are a part of your true nature. This is all contained in your Book of Life.

This Book, which is your individual Akashic Record, shows your existence as a Spiritual Being, the slipping into the dream state, your miscreations and the karmic effect, the series of lessons undertaken to eliminate karma and awaken to Truth, and the record of your journey thus far. Prior to each incarnation, your Book is reviewed for you, and you choose the lessons for your next lifetime in physical form.

What are your lessons to learn in this particular incarnation? Through meditation on this question, the answers will be revealed to you from within. You can also look without at the karmic wheel of your life for the answer. Visualize a large Ferris wheel with each compartment filled with human experiences. As the giant wheel rotates, see the lowest compartment, the one closest to the ground, tip over and release certain conditions and experiences in your life, and then move on. If you will analyze your life, you will find that as your karmic wheel makes its rotation, it will usually discharge conditions and circumstances of a similar nature. For example, you may have faced financial problems, found a way to overcome them, only to be troubled with additional experiences of lack as the wheel comes back around again. Or perhaps it's relationship or health problems that seem to be cyclical in nature in your life.

Take time now to review your life—going back as far as you can remember. Make a list of the more traumatic experiences—those of a highly charged negative nature. Note the approximate year and the general circumstances involved in each one. Do not be concerned about drawing negative energy into your consciousness by bringing each experience back into your mind. They are all still there, all securely deposited in the appropriate container on your wheel, so bring them out on paper in the first section of your Journal and take a close look at them.

A little memory jogging may help you. Think on this question: “What has been the major manifest problem in my life?” Consider:

- Personal relationships
- Job and career fulfillment

- Physical well-being and health
- Financial abundance and security
- Safety and protection
- Cooperation and assistance from others
- Add other conditions and circumstances that have been expressed in your life as negative experiences

You may want to rate yourself on a scale of 1 to 10 in these areas to give you an idea of just where you are in consciousness. Again, I want you to identify what you consider to be the major manifest problem in your life—where you experience periodic challenges.

Now for the second part in the “life-scan” of lessons to be learned, answer this question: “What do I fear the most in my life?” Is it the fear of being lonely? A fear of failure? A fear of lack? A fear of disease? Name your fears and write them down, and the objective in doing this is to see if your fears tie in with the major manifest problems in your life. It may take a bit of analysis on your part, but it will be well worth the time and effort.

For the third part of the life-scan of lessons to be learned, answer this question: “What do I consider the major flaws in my human consciousness?” You may want to consider one or more of the following:

- Selfishness
- Jealousy
- Resentment toward others
- Dishonesty
- Inertia
- Spiritual pride
- The inability to express love
- An inability to receive
- An inability to give
- Feelings of unworthiness
- Possessiveness
- Feelings of superiority or inferiority
- Cynicism
- Anger
- Other—(continue with your own personal evaluation of your consciousness)

Now let's put it all together and answer this final question: "In looking at the manifest problems that keep recurring . . . in examining my major fears . . . and after taking inventory of the major flaws in my human consciousness . . . what are the lessons I must learn in this incarnation in order to move fully into spiritual consciousness?"

Let me give you an example of what one particular answer might be: "I see that my major karmic load in this incarnation has been one of relationships and the inability to relate to others in a loving and meaningful way. This ties in perfectly with my great fear of being alone, particularly in my later years in life. And as a result, I am possessive in my relationships, frequently jealous for no apparent reason, and filled with self-doubt and a lack of self-worth when the relationship falls apart."

So what is the lesson this individual has to learn? It is the lesson of Love . . . loving Self and others UNCONDITIONALLY . . . unconditional love with no strings attached.

In this particular case, the lesson to be learned was obvious, but in many others, it's not. So when it just doesn't stand out in lights, you may have to go back and trace the root cause of the condition. For example, do the physical problems seem to always occur during or following a financial crisis? Did the string of broken relationships result in job dissatisfaction and unfulfillment in your career? Many people can track a problem back to one particular vulnerability, and in a great number of cases, it has been a problem related to financial lack. One Quartus member discovered in his life-scan that most of the crises situations during his adult years could be traced to financial insufficiency. In almost every instance relating to career unfulfillment or physical ailments, the root cause was concern about money. So he knew what he had to learn in this lifetime—once and for all: the laws of spiritual abundance.

Like the individual with the relationship problem, your list may reveal negative experiences all grouped under one heading. Perhaps it's health. If other problems seem to be only side-effects of this major challenge, then you know that you chose to realize God as your Life and the Perfection of your body in this incarnation. Or there may be a record of continuous dissatisfaction with the jobs you've had and with your career in general. This discontent could be a signal that your purpose in this lifetime is to find your true place — that Circle of Light where your Divine Plan can be expressed most effectively. Whatever the common pattern of less-than-desirable circumstances may be, now is the time to do something about it. If you wait, you will simply have to go through the same thing all over again, and you will be delaying your participation as a co-creator in fulfilling the Divine Plan.

Another point to consider: Every negative experience or pattern on your karmic wheel is directly related to your concept of your own self-worth. What you really believe about your own worthiness is externalized in your life and affairs. If you feel unworthy in any area of your life, you have added a burden to your soul in the form of a karmic debt, and it must, by law, be outpictured in your affairs. When you begin to equate your worthiness with God's worthiness, realizing that you are an Individualization of the Creator of this Universe, the debts are paid and you are free. When you know yourself, you will have mastered your lessons, so think about the idea that you are living right now. Do you see yourself as the Christ of God, God in individual expression? If not, do not waste another moment living the idea that you are just a "human being." Take the idea that God is individualized as you and let your thoughts flow from that state of consciousness. Let your emotional nature feel according to that Truth. Let your words reflect the totally unlimited Being that you are, and let your actions be based on the Truth that you are Omnipotence made Manifest! When you live the Idea that you are the Christ of God, the law will create everything in your life to reflect that Idea . . . abundance, love, bodily perfection, true place success, great joy, total peace, wisdom, faith, deep understanding, power, perfect order, enthusiasm, beauty, and the kind of livingness that was planned for you in the beginning.

Cutting the cord

What about karmic links of a negative nature to another person? These were obviously created in the past through resentment, hostility and fear, and you may have drawn these people back into your life so that you could learn the lesson of forgiveness. If you work daily and diligently with cleansing meditations, forgiving the past and asking the Spirit within to eliminate all error patterns and negative emotions, the remnants of those karmic links will be dissolved. But if you continue to plant seeds of condemnation and unforgiveness, you will be canceling out the releasing action and maintaining the status quo.

One way to cooperate with Spirit is to cut the psychic links that bind you to the other person. Just imagine that there is an energy cord (and there really is) between you and the particular individual. You are literally “linked up”—tied together—by a cord of negative energy attached to the solar plexus of both parties. You must want to cut that cord, and you must take the action to do it! Take an imaginary pair of scissors in your hand and cut the cord now. See it snap—feel it break. Your consciousness will instantly respond to this mental-emotional action, but you must see the cord break in your mind’s eye. Once it is severed, begin to pour out all the unconditional love you can feel and send it to the other person. He/she has been released from you and has been moved out of your energy field to experience only the highest good. The attachment has been severed for the good of all concerned, and both of you are free. Now you can love unconditionally, with no strings attached.

You are not here to suffer

The Divine Plan for you does not have a special section on suffering. While the law of cause and effect is unequivocal, a lesson does not have to be a traumatic experience—unless you choose for it to be. You are not here to endure hardships as far as the Will of God is concerned. You are here to meet your challenges joyfully and lovingly by transmuting all negative energies in the experience or condition. If you are not doing that, you are not fulfilling your part of the Plan. You have the power to eliminate every negative condition in your life, and you have the power to keep your life on the right track as you evolve spiritually to Christhood. Many people think that a karmic pattern of illness means that they must experience a debilitating disease, be wracked with pain, and undergo untold suffering in order to “pay for their sins” and be free of the burden. That’s absolute nonsense! If you had known when you first began to experience ill health that it was nothing more than an illusion calling for your attention, simply an outpicturing of a faulty belief system and negative emotions, you could have retired to your quiet place with these kind of thoughts in your mind:

Obviously this is a signal that there is a misconception and a misunderstanding in my mind regarding the perfection of my body. I am glad that this has surfaced now so that I can eliminate these error patterns once and for all. I know that I don’t have to be sick to burn away these patterns. I don’t have to suffer or experience pain for the old tapes to be erased. I simply have to recognize them for what they are and rise above them in consciousness. I need only to touch the hem of the garment of my Higher Self and I am totally healed, and the permanence of the healing depends on how I choose to think and feel and act from this moment on. By being aware of the reason for my illness, I can now take the lesson and pass the test. With this understanding, I choose to break the karmic wheel by realizing that God is my health, God is my life, and God is eternally being me! Therefore, it is impossible for me to suffer ill health. I can only enjoy radiant perfection and abundant well-being.

You would continue to meditate daily on your Oneness with God, forgiving everyone and everything, loving all unconditionally, choosing to express only the radiant Perfection of your Christ Self, constantly accepting your wholeness in mind and body, and living each day with a sense of having a body fashioned after the Perfect Pattern in God-Mind. The result? Sickness would soon be so foreign to you that it would not even be a part of your consciousness. And the same would hold true for finances, personal relationships, career fulfillment, and every other aspect of your life. A “lesson” is simply a calling for forgiveness and a correction in mind.

Lessons you have already learned

Karma is the law of cause and effect, which means that it does not always have a negative connotation. In your many lives, including the present one, you have also sown good thoughts, words and deeds, and you are reaping the effect of that good work. So take an inventory of your life now to discover the lessons that you have already mastered.

You may realize that you’ve hardly been sick in your entire life, or that relationship problems have been few and far between, or that you have always had plenty of money to do whatever you wanted to do. Perhaps you are deeply contented with your career, and feel that you have achieved a level of success that provides fulfillment in your life. We should never look at what’s wrong in our evaluations without first looking at what’s right, and in doing so, we will usually find that the positive outweighs the negative.

Pause for a few minutes now and start the second section in your Divine Plan Journal. Take a review of your life and write down the beautiful highlights. From the vantage point of lessons learned, you may find that you are closer to the mountaintop than you thought. Ask yourself: What’s right with me? What are the positives in my life? Where do I feel complete and whole?

Think about your ability to give and receive, your integrity, your evolving consciousness, your beautiful love nature . . .
WHAT’S RIGHT WITH YOU?

Your Gifts and Talents

Under the law of compensation, for every lesson to be learned in a lifetime, there is also a gift to share with others—a talent for you to utilize in helping other souls master their challenges, learn their lessons, and awaken to the Truth. These gifts, talents, or characteristics of consciousness may be related in part to positive seeds sown in the past, i.e. “good” karma. And they must be used in the service of others if you are to receive the full benefit. As you work with your consciousness to rise above the challenges representing your karmic debts, if you will simultaneously use your gifts to the fullest in the service of others, the combination of the learning and the serving will so greatly accelerate your progress that you will be lifetimes ahead in your spiritual evolution. And based on where you are in consciousness, the learning-serving action in this incarnation could quickly reveal to you a literal heaven on earth!

The gifts represent the third section in your Journal, and one way to discover them is to ask yourself: “What have I always wanted to do or be? What is my heart’s desire? Where are my interests? What do I enjoy doing the most?” Spend several days contemplating these questions, and the answers will begin to flow into your mind. Be sure to go back to your childhood and come forward – remembering all those yearnings you’ve had. Write them down and see where the common denominator is. You’ll find it. It may be something that you would discount or overlook because you could not see it as a means of supporting yourself in a job or a career. Or it may be difficult for you to equate a particular heart’s desire with a talent or gift. For example, if you have always had the urge to travel and see faraway lands, you may think of this as something you will do after you retire, or in your later years as strictly a leisure activity. But this may not be what Spirit has in Mind. The desire to travel may be due to the “connection” you feel for people of different backgrounds and cultures – and through the gifts of love and understanding, along with respect, admiration and a sense of brotherhood you feel, you will do your part in healing the sense of separation. Perhaps the urge to travel will be the stimulus that will cause you to investigate the travel industry, which will lead to a career opportunity, which will set the stage for future trips abroad where you will fully utilize your talents in the service of God and mankind.

Based on the above example, you can see that it will be necessary to evaluate your heart's desire and see what the purpose behind it may be—because the gift is not always obvious. Or, you may be fully cognizant of your gift, but not know what to do with it. For greater understanding of your gift and how to use it, follow this exercise for seven days: Each morning, immediately upon awakening, ask yourself: “What do I intuitively feel my greatest strength to be? What do I intuitively feel my special gift or talent is?” As you ask each question, write down the immediate thought that comes to mind. Do not stop to analyze or evaluate the answer—just write what comes to you. Ask the two questions and write down the answers. Once that is done, ask yourself one final question: “What do I intuitively feel my Higher Self wants me to do with these special attributes?” Again, put on paper the immediate response. Continue the process each day for seven days, not missing one single day. You will find that the answers for the first three days will be colored somewhat by your ego, but by the fourth day you will have broken through to a higher realm of consciousness and the answers will pour forth with greater clarity.

What are some examples of gifts and talents? How about love, joy and the ability to see something good in everything? Also think about wisdom and understanding, and the use of these gifts to help others move through a difficult time. Consider the ability to work with children in a variety of capacities, having a sense of humor and making others laugh, and the ability to create order out of chaos through proper organization. There are musical talents, using the voice and playing various instruments. And the ability to act and create a role so real that the audience loses all sense of time and space. And what about cooking? My mother pours so much love into the preparation of food that she could make a rock taste good. Think about the ability to make something with your hands, capture beauty in a photograph, paint a picture, write a story or a poem, or teach someone—whether in a classroom or not.

There are so many additional gifts, and we have the potential to possess all of them—but certain ones are more pronounced in each individual consciousness. So find your gift—your talent—and polish it to perfection by using it to make this a better world.

Your Life Program

Your Life Program—the fourth section in your Journal—is all that you can desire . . . all that you can see with your uplifted vision. The Life Program of your Divine Plan is the abundant livingness that the Father has for you now! Remember that the word “desire” means “from the Father”—so all that you desire for the life more abundant—the life more creative—the life more fulfilling—the life more loving—the life more beautiful—the life more perfect—all of this is Spirit knocking on the door of your consciousness saying—“It’s all yours now! All that I am, you are, and all that I have is yours now. Take it! Love it! Enjoy it! This is my Divine Plan for you!”

Start writing your Life Program this very day. What do you want in life? I don’t mean just making a list or a treasure map. Lists and treasure maps are fine for the manifestation of things, but we’re talking about a Life Program of EXPERIENCES now . . . and the experiences will include the things! This is your opportunity for you to write the greatest drama ever written—and it will be for you because it will be the drama of your life. At the top of the first page write: “I see myself . . .” and then write what you see from the standpoint of your highest vision. The choice is totally yours . . . what do you want to do and be and have? Drop all the can’ts, all the inhibitions. Put yourself at the center of your world and build around you.

As you begin to write your scenario, the first thing should be how you see yourself spiritually. For example: “I see myself as a spiritual being, as the very Christ of God. I am so conscious of the Christ Self within that I have become that SELF. I live and move and have my being in Christ—as Christ—and I am now the Master that I was created to be.”

The second part of your script should be how you see the world, and the view of yourself living in the world. “I see myself living in a world of perfect peace and harmony . . . in a world filled with love and joy, where the sense of separation from our Source is completely healed and mankind is now living as Godkind.”

Next, go back to the first section of your Journal and recall the lessons you came in to learn—and write your script showing the mastery of these lessons. For example, if it was the inability to enjoy a close, loving relationship with a soul mate, you might write something like this:

“I see myself in a beautiful loving relationship . . . warm and tender, yet stimulating and exciting. I see perfect unconditional love in action between the two of us, and it is so beautiful. And I love the fun, the frolic and the gaiety that I see in our relationship. We are so happy together.” Write the scenes in detail . . . write the dialog between the two of you . . . describe the activities with great feeling.

Now review the second section of your Journal and take a close look at the good seeds that you have sown in the past that are now being harvested. Remember that you’ve learned these lessons, but you want to enhance your mastery of them in this lifetime. So if you’ve enjoyed good health, do not leave this attribute out of your Life Program. You may write: “I see myself filled with zest and vitality . . . I see myself with a magnificently healthy body in perfect order, where every cell is in the image of the perfect pattern, and I am whole and complete.” The key is to put it into your own words . . . words that reflect your highest vision and evoke the greatest feelings of joy.

Then look at your gifts and talents and see where you can find the deepest satisfaction in your life’s work—whatever that may be. We’re talking about your True Place now, where you see yourself doing what you’ve always wanted to do. And don’t say you’re too old or too young or too uneducated or too whatever. Throw away the excuses. Just write scenes showing you enjoying the greatest fulfillment of your eternal life—and don’t be concerned with the financial part of it, or how you’re going to make money doing what you really want to do. That’s a separate part of your plan, so see yourself now doing what you have always wanted to do. Just write: "I see myself . . ." and write what you see.

Once this is complete, you can phase in the abundance of supply in your Life Program by seeing yourself as wealthy as you want to be. "I see myself financially independent and totally secure with a lavish abundance!" Don't be concerned from where the money will come . . . that's none of your business . . . just see yourself overflowing with abundance and attracting bountiful prosperity from every direction, and write what you see.

Develop the other scenes of your life as you see ideal and perfect fulfillment, covering every desire, mastering every challenge, learning every lesson, capitalizing on every strength, using every gift and talent, and living life to the absolute fullest. Don't worry about your writing style, your punctuation, or perhaps your inability to create vivid and dramatic scenes. You're not writing for publication. You're writing for you! If you want to make changes in the script later, that's fine—because it's your Life Program. The main thing you want to do now is to set the direction of your life according to your greatest desires and your highest vision. Remember, as we see ourselves, so we tend to become!

I see myself energetic, inspired and enthusiastic! I see myself loving and loved, unconditionally! I see myself poised, confident, and filled with the power of absolute faith! I see myself as whole and complete, with an all-sufficiency of all things! I see myself with perfect judgment and as Divine Wisdom in action! I see myself as strong, mighty and power-ful! I see myself as eternal Life in perfect expression! I see myself joyous, happy and delighted to be me! I see myself enjoying the Good Will of God every single day! I see myself with perfect understanding! I see myself as the Light of the world! I see myself as God being me!

Bringing Your Life Program Into Visibility

After you have written your Life Program in detail—making sure that the scenes and visions evoke great love, great joy and excitement—go to a quiet place, sit up straight, and take several deep breaths as you focus on the Love Center in your heart. Stir up that feeling of love until you feel its magnificent vibration, then read your Life Program to your deeper mind with great feeling. Read the program either silently or aloud, whichever way stirs up the greatest emotion in you. “I see myself . . .” Read it with overflowing love. “I see myself . . .” Read it with joyful tears. “I see myself . . .” Read it with power and strength. “I see myself . . .” Read it with great happiness. Read each word with feeling, and lovingly contemplate the scenes that come into your mind. Take as long as necessary to establish, register and impress your deeper-than-conscious level of mind with the details of your Life Program.

Once you do this, you have the pattern, the mental equivalent, the mold for your Life Program—and it will remain etched in your deeper consciousness unless you change the pattern. And this is why it is wise to read your Life Program to yourself each day until the manifestation occurs.

After the pattern is established it is up to the Power, the Substance, the Creative Energy of Spirit to give it form and experience. And while Infinite Mind is going to be the primary Actor on stage now, you still have a vital role to play in the co-creation, as follows:

1. First, remember who you are. The Reality of you is pure Spirit, the very Christ of God, the Lord-God-Self that you are in Truth.
2. Secondly, understand that the Life Program you create in your mind and write in words is not your conception. It is from your Higher Self; it's how your God-Self wants to express in your world. So you can relax, knowing that you don't have to make anything happen. All you have to do is take the blueprint into consciousness to establish the pattern.
3. Thirdly, the creating-creative Energy of that Infinite Mind within you is the substance of every form and experience of your Life Program. That radiant energy—that overflowing substance—is forever pouring, radiating from the Supermind within—right through your consciousness and out into the physical world to become all that you desire. As it moves through the pattern of your Life Program, the energy takes on the attributes of the program and begins to materialize them by changing its rate of vibration.

4. The fourth point in the co-creation activity: If you keep your focus on the forms of your Life Program, your mind will tell you after a time that there is not enough opportunities to meet the right mate, not enough money to accomplish your goals, not enough contacts to find your true place, not enough physical well-being to meet your objectives, not enough time to do all that you want to do, not enough wisdom to know what to do and when, not enough cooperation from others, not enough of whatever.

And the reason is because your mind will be vibrating at too low a level . . . your mental vibrations will have dropped so low that the manifestation cannot be completed. This is why you must keep your mind on the spiritual I AM within, knowing that God is the very substance of your Life Program and the very activity of your Life Program. And since there is never any lack of substance of God or the activity of God, there cannot be any obstacles to the fulfillment of your program.

In other words, there is always plenty of God! When your mind begins to understand the true meaning of omnipresence, it begins to vibrate to a consciousness of plenty, and that high vibration is the one that will bring your Life Program into visibility. You must understand that your program, which will come forth into visibility as form and experience, will be an effect of your consciousness. And you know that when you concentrate on the effect, you are forgetting the Cause, and when you do that, you are shutting down the power. You must look to God, Spirit, Substance alone as THE Source of your Life Program and take your mind completely off the outer world.

In essence, when you concentrate on the effects of your world, you are lowering the vibration of your consciousness, and the lower the vibration, the more difficult it is for your good to come forth into manifestation. But when you concentrate on the Spirit-Substance of the Great I AM within you, you are raising the vibration of your consciousness. Think on this: While your mind could possibly conceive of a limitation of the form, it certainly could not possibly conceive of any limitation in Spirit!

Do you see now what your role in the scheme of things is? As a co-creator, you . . .

1. Take your heart's desires that Spirit has given you and write the scenario for your life according to your highest vision. The Life Program of your Divine Plan is what you really want to do and be and have in your life!

2. You give this Life Program to your consciousness with great feeling and joyful emotion so that the perfect pattern can be developed.

3. You read the program daily to protect the pattern.

4. At all other times you maintain the highest possible vibration by keeping your mind on the idea that Spirit is Omnipresent, that Spirit is appearing as your Life Program, that there is always plenty of Spirit; therefore, there can be no limitations involving your Life Program.

Soak and saturate yourself with the idea of PLENTY, and the vibration of PLENTY will manifest in your affairs . . . plenty of love, plenty of health, plenty of true place opportunities, plenty of money, plenty of time, plenty of wisdom, plenty of fun, plenty of peace, plenty of joy, plenty of vitality, plenty of inspiration. PLENTY-PLENTY-PLENTY!

The Divine Plan and True Place

By way of summarizing the concept of the Divine Plan—and to give you a broader perspective of the relationship of True Place within the Plan—let's see what Jason Andrews¹ has to say on the subject.

¹ Jason Andrews is the name used to identify an evolved Soul quoted at length in Chapter Three of The Superbeings.

Andrews: "Each man, each woman, came into physical form with a purpose, a mission. Consider people living now in America, the European countries, Russia, the Far East, throughout the world.

"Regardless of what you may call their lot in life, each was granted entrance into the manifest world to express a particular idea, faculty, a certain level of consciousness if you will.

"Never forget the uniqueness of each individual. No two are alike. Take away the mask of human identity, move past the gaze of awareness that is fastened to the illusionary world, progress on through the cave of memory and you begin to see the soft rays of a light. The closer you approach the light, the brighter it seems. This is the Light of Reality, the point where the Universal is forever becoming the Individual. It is the pressing out of God-Mind into a particular MANifestation. Here, in this secret place of the Superconsciousness, is where Uniqueness is born. God never creates identically.

"At the time of the separation when man fell away from spiritual consciousness—referring to 'time' figuratively, God etched deeply in each Soul a Divine Plan for reuniting Sonship and reestablishing the Brotherhood of Man under the Fatherhood of God. You may say that there is a Master Plan, and that each individual plan is some part of the whole, and true place symbolizes the outer expression of that inner plan. Would you not agree that true place is the special and specific activity of each individual in showing his brothers the way of At-One-Ment? Can you not see that true place is how and where you spread spiritual Light?

"The sharing of spiritual understanding is the cornerstone of true place, but included in the 'structure' is life itself: the right work, right relationships, a peaceful mind and joyful heart, and a splendid feeling of fulfillment. The Divine Plan etched in your Soul is indispensable to the whole, to the universe, for there could not be Completeness without it, without you, without each individual man and woman. ALL parts are indispensable to the whole, therefore, every Soul is equally important to God, for His Idea of the Son cannot be complete without the participating unity of all the parts.

“Can you see now that the drunk in the gutter is as important in God’s eyes as the ruler of a nation? There is no such thing as a ‘lost soul’ – for every Soul is a Page in the Master Plan.

“True Place is how and where you are expressing the Divine Plan for your eternal life. True Place is the effect; the Plan is the cause. Pick a stranger out of the crowd. Think how special he is. Within his Soul is a link in a universal chain of Brotherhood, of Sonship, and without that particular individual, that particular link, God’s perfect Idea of Himself would not be complete.

“The link represents the individual’s Divine Plan. If we could go within his consciousness to read his Plan, we would see a particular gift, a special talent, for providing a useful service to others. He may not have discovered this talent as yet, but it is there. There is also a magnetic force that if followed, will lead him to the geographical location on Earth where his talent may be used most effectively. This same force will also attract the right people into his life. The Idea of dedicating his life to the love of God and his fellow man is there, along with infinite opportunities to give and share spiritual understanding through his thoughts, words and deeds. Written in the Plan is the instruction to put more into the world than he takes out . . . to be a giver rather than a taker in consciousness. He will find the Idea that his abundance is not dependent on persons or conditions, and wholeness of body is included as the perfect body Idea.

“As the Divine Plan comes forth to manifest as true place, he will find great fulfillment in his life’s work, and will meet his responsibilities with joy and enthusiasm. The Golden Rule will be practiced in all his relationships, and order and harmony will be evident in every area of his life. He will feel complete, whole, total . . . spiritually, emotionally, mentally, physically. And his world will reflect this perfect balance.

“Your true place is the activity of livingness! If you cannot feel this activity taking place in your life, you must take an inventory of consciousness. To do this, look at your world. Look at your life. If it is not whole and complete, you are out of alignment with your Divine Plan. You are not on the mark. To be on the mark, you must be in your place in the universe. If you are off the mark, you are out of place.

“Also take inventory from within. What is your most compelling desire in your work life? Has there been an inner urging, a yearning of the heart for a change? Do not resist change. At the same time, use discernment, good judgment. Follow the calling but use wisdom. God has charted the course and He will lead you across the river of change at the shallow point. Or He may push you off into deep water, but will support you safely across, protecting you from the currents of race mind fears. Simply follow the inner guidance, your intuition, with confidence and peace.

“Yes, a person may feel out of place in a particular job, or in a particular community. If the discontent persists, meaning that it is not merely a mood or whim, he is being alerted to listen within. But the guidance, the instructions, must always be received in a consciousness of love. Otherwise the guidance may be misinterpreted and he may take action prematurely. He must love from the heart, pouring out the energy of love to all without exception. Love will open the divine channel of communication by dissolving the fear that had clogged it. Without a consciousness of love, a person will not find true place.

“In his consciousness of love he must follow the inner guidance to the letter, not analyzing the instructions, just following them. Take action! If he waits to evaluate and procrastinates, the entire chain of events that had been established for him will break apart. He will have missed the train, so to speak, and while another will be forthcoming, why should he wait for God’s richest blessings?”

Question: What if a person does not know what he wants to do—he just knows he doesn’t like what he is doing?

Andrews: “It doesn’t matter what he wants to do. His God-Self knows what He wants to do, and that is all that is important. An individual’s Divine Plan, expressing as true place, is a part of the WHOLE Plan to heal the separation. To reunite the Consciousness of Sonship, each man and woman must be in a position to evolve in consciousness. To evolve in consciousness, one must be in proper alignment with the universe. The Spirit within you knows precisely where this Circle of Light is, and will make the path straight before you. Even more, He will take you there!

“The Circle of Light, the Divine Plan in expression, will give you the opportunity to grow with ease. If you are outside the Circle, you will grow with adversity. The choice is yours, but you will evolve, one way or another, because the Light of At-One-Ment cannot be held back.

“Your work life within the Circle may not be a job or career as those words are commonly defined. But whatever your role, assignment, responsibility may be, it will be an opportunity to use your particular talents in the service of others. An individual may also feel that if he or she truly loves the work that fulfills a heart’s desire, the compensation for that service may be below the level of financial freedom. Ask yourself: Where is that person focusing his or her attention? God is the only Source of supply, of abundance, but by looking at the job as the source, other channels will be closed. Just remember this . . . the Divine Plan for each individual includes successful service, abundant supply, ideal relationships, and radiant health, all in a divine atmosphere of peace, love, joy, fulfillment and freedom.”

Question: What must we do, individually, to bring the Divine Plan for our lives into manifestation?

Andrews: “Give more where you are. Dedicate yourself to the job at hand, and meet each responsibility with joyful enthusiasm. Throw yourself into life by serving God and your fellowman to the very best of your abilities. When you give more, you love more, and the more you love, the more you give. This is working with the Law, and never forget that the activity of the Law depends on two commandments that Jesus gave us . . . ‘You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, and with all your soul, and with all your mind. This is the great and first commandment. And a second is like it. You shall love your neighbor as yourself. On these two commandments depend all the law and the prophets’.

“Has it not occurred to you what the Divine Plan is? The Divine Plan for your life is the Christ indwelling, your spiritual nature, your Superconsciousness, your LORD. You cannot separate Mind from the activity of Mind. The Divine Ideas representing the Plan for your life are in the thought realm of your spiritual consciousness. This is the Christ of you seeing Himself in expression! When you put on Christ through the love of Christ and your fellowman, your neighbor, you are embodying the expression. When you realize your true Identity, that Identity manifests Itself through you as your true place.

“It is impossible to be ‘in place’ spiritually and be out of place in your world. You cannot be spiritually rich and materially poor. You cannot be spiritually well and suffer ill health. You cannot be the Love of Spirit in expression and experience inharmonious relationships.

“The answer? The Light of God within you, your True Self, is the answer. Touch that through daily prayer and meditation. Affirm with faith and feeling that Christ in you is now made manifest in your heart, in your mind, in your body, in your affairs. Speak the word that you are now in your true place according to the Divine Plan that has been lovingly created especially for you.

“In a consciousness of love, work with the Law, and easily and beautifully you will be led to the Circle of Light where your Kingdom is now in expression on Earth, as it is in Heaven.”

The Mission Defined

From Part I, we see that the world consciousness is quickly moving toward critical mass. Will the subsequent chain reaction be spiritual or mortal, positive or negative? It all depends on each one of us. By being a part of the Planetary Commission and doing whatever is necessary to change our individual consciousness, we will begin to break up some of the dark pockets of negative energy in the race mind. And through our collective efforts on December 31, we can literally turn on the Light of the World, dissolve the darkness, and begin the New Age of spirituality on Planet Earth.

Since what we are seeing today is the accumulation of our past, we have gone back into time to examine the ancient records and have traced our path from the descent into mortal consciousness to the present time. Now we can close the doors to all that is behind us, release through love and forgiveness all that has been, and co-create the future according to the Divine Plan.

From around the globe, the Light Bearers are gathering for this mission. In order for you to be a dynamic, active participant, you must understand your Master Plan for this particular incarnation. By now you have begun to recognize why you are here, and the work that you must do individually to retrain your mind and recondition your consciousness. The full scope of your Divine Plan is now coming into view, and you are eager to step out on the stage of this world as the master you were created to be.

This leads us to Part II of this book—The Commission Workbook for Self-Mastery. Rather than select those chapters that relate to your primary challenge, it is suggested that you first read Part II in its entirety, then start over again and spend as much time as necessary with each chapter until you feel an inner acknowledgement of understanding, a subjective comprehension of the ideas presented. Then begin to practice and live the principles in your daily life. And remember . . . no other “human” can show you a short-cut to the mountaintop. There can only be one Guide, one Teacher, one Master in your life . . . and that is the Divine Reality within you, your Spiritual Self. The writings in Part II are simply to help you rediscover your Self, and to realize that Self as the fulfillment of every desire, the answer to every need, and the solution to every problem.
